Todd Hagenbuch is the Agriculture Agent and Director for CSU Extension in Routt County, where he is the fourth generation of his family to garden in the high elevation Yampa Valley. While his great grandfather grew 1500 cabbages a year at the base of the Steamboat Ski Area for the local Safeway Store, Todd is more content growing a small vegetable garden for his family and focusing on the ornamentals that make his yard a great place to hang out in the summer.

Todd holds a Bachelor of Science in Farm and Ranch Management from Colorado State University as well as a Masters of Science in Management from Regis University. Lest you think he does not have a horticulture background sufficient to teach this course, Todd officially took a one-credit class on community education in horticulture while working at Northeastern Junior College and more importantly, leads a very active, engaged and lively Colorado Master Gardener program in Routt County.
